GERMAN FORCES WILL HAVE CITY OF WARSAW IN ANOTHER WEEK IF RUSSIANS FAIL TO CHECK THEM

General Mackensen Still is Swinging Northward Five Miles Day.

TO DIVIDE RUSSIANS

However, the Burdens of the Teutonic Allies Are Daily Increasing.

British and French May Soon Begin General Offensive.

London, July 4. — At a rate estimated at five miles a day, General Von Mackensen's German forces are still swinging northward in Galicia and Poland in a colossal and daring endeavor to drive a wedge into the Russian center and dislodge the Russians from the Vistula river and force them back over the Bug, thus splitting the Grand Duke's forces into two sections, with thousands of acres of swamp and marsh land between them.

If the Austro-Germans can continue their progress another week even the British press admits the Russians will have to give up Warsaw and with it the whole line. Meanwhile, the Germans are massing more troops in the Baltic provinces and the recent encounter in the Baltic seems to suggest that they contemplate co-ordinate naval action, but it is possible that the sea operations only were a feint.

Firm on Extreme Wings.

In Southwest Galicia the Russians are fighting tenaciously and have the advantage of a remarkable series of parallel rivers beyond the Gnila Lipa and the Austro-German advance is likely to be costly.

Thus, on their two extreme wings the Russians appear to be firm, and where they are retreating it still is claimed, their retirement is orderly and accompanied by vigorous rearguard operations. The Austro-Germans advancing in the center, moreover are getting deeper into a country covered with forests and streams and barren of railways, between the Middle Vistula and the Bug—natural advantages to the Russian military writers here emphasize. They point out, too, the daily lengthening chain of Austro-German communications, which brings an added burden to the Teutonic allies.

Some of the British public think the time has come for Great Britain and France to begin a general offensive and force a transfer of German troops from the East, but the more conservative military writers think the time is not at hand and that the best aid England can lend her eastern ally is to pour into Russia every ounce of ammunition that can be spared without curtailing the necessary supply at the western front.

One of the main aims of the Germans in the East is a vast move behind Warsaw ,embracing Brest-Litovsk, one of the strong Russian bases. Civilian residents of Warsaw, say Petrograd dispatches, already at leaving the city because of the possibility of German occupation. Circulars dropped from German aircraft on the Polish capital predict Warsaw's fall by the end of July.

As an explanation of the continued retirement of the Russian center, a Petrograd dispatch says the Russians refuse to accept serious battle in country devoid of railroads.

Russia has not denied that in the recent naval engagement in the Baltic, the Russian warships violated Swedish territorial waters and that the situation is not unlike in circumstances the affair off the coast of Chile, when British cruisers sank the Dresden. Swedish papers comment on the episode in a mild tone, assuming that an apology and explanation will be forthcoming. According to Copenhagen advices the greater part of the battle was fought in Swedish daters, a ndthe crew of the Oestegarns lighthouse had to lie flat to escape shrapnel.

FRENCH POSITIONS ATTACKED

Germans Driven Back Under Fierce Cannonading With Heavy Losses.

Paris, July 4.—German troops in close formation last night attacked the French defending the Angres-Ablain road, north of Arras, but were dispersed after heavy losses, says today's French official statement. A German battalion, the statement adds which attempted to storm Fey, five miles west of Pont-A-Mousson and the Moselle river, was hurled back after reaching the French wire entanglements. The statement reads:

"In the region north of Arras the enemy last night attacked in close formation our positions along the hollow road from Angres to Ablain, which is north of the highway running be-

Flower Gardens About the Soldiers' Quarters Make Things Look as Homey as the Suburbs in England.

British Headquarters in France, July 3 (via London, July 4).—One might have gone miles along the British front this week without hearing a gun. It seems as if both sides were taking a holiday out of respect for the beautiful summer weather, or else the silence was significant of preparation and accumulation of shells by one side or the other for some great effort.

Beyond the occasional explosion of a mine or routine shelling there has been no action. Soldiers in reserve have been swimming in the canal, resting under shade trees, playing cricket and football and tending their flower gardens about their quarters which have been made to look like those one sees in front of rows of cottages at this season in England.

The flat and gently rolling country of Flanders and Northern France which was a forbidding gray, leafless mire under chilling winter mists has become a pleasant land of rich crops dotted with groves.

No Fear of Epidemic.

All fear of an epidemic of sickness in the hot months for the immense army billeted in the thickly populated lowlands are groundless. Thanks to anti-typhoid inoculation, the habitual personal cleanliness of the Englishmen and the strict enforcement of sanitary precautions, the health of the troops is as good as that in the barracks at home. Flies are being kept down to a minimum. The paths, roadsides and yards where the men are billeted are kept as clear of little as a first class golf course or the lawn of a fastidious surbanite.

Tommy Atkins frequently lends a hand to the French peasant, all of whom from boys and girls of six or seven to bent old men and women, are engaged in the harvest and by the way Tommy uses his scythe or fork one knows not whether he is city or country bred.

The correspondent has walked through the long communication trenches safely in broad daylight to the firing trenches which, if approaches in winter except over open ground and stumbling through mud under cover of darkness, would have been worth one's life.

Siege warfare has been made comfortable. Some trenches even have become a sort of Sylvan paradise where meals and tea are taken at fresco, and flowers even have been planted on par-

Teutonic Naval Officers Claim Firing of Russians in Swedish Waters Was Violation of That Country's Laws.

Berlin, July 4.—The plucky fight of the German mine layer Albatross against four Russian cruisers of the armored class and what is charged by German naval officers as a Russian violation of Swedish neutrality, claimed public attention in Berlin today.

According to Swedish and Danish reports the Albatross in a dense fog lost sight of accompanying small cruisers and suddenly was attacked by four big ships. The mine layer fought desperately for several hours, but was driven towards the Swedish coast and finally entered Swedish waters. The captain ran the ship aground near Henviker.

The Russians, it is said, continued firing long after the Albatross entered Swedish territory. The Oestegarn lighthouse was hit and the keeper was compelled to flee.

The Albatross was hit about thirty times. Lieutenant Loewenberg and 27 men were killed and many others were wounded. One shell entered the ship hospital, killing ten wounded men and fatally wounding a doctor.

After the Albatross was beached the captain assembled the crew around the flag flying aft, the foremast having been shot away. They sang the national hymn and gave three cheers for the Emperor and the Fatherland. The captain then struck the flag and requested the Swedes to intern ship and crew.

The Swedish, these advices say, immediately ordered the Swedish minister at Petrograd to protest vigorously against the violation of Sweden's neutrality.

The Russian cruisers after the action with the Albatross were engaged by one large warship and several small German cruisers off the coast and disappeared hotly pursued by the Germans.

PRESIDENT OFFERED TO HELP MOTORISTS

Alighted From Car to Learn the Trouble.

He and Family Were Automobiling, When They Came Across Machine Hanging Over Side of the Road—A Quiet Fourth.

Cornish, N. H., July 4. — President Wilson, out for an automobile ride with members of the family, today offered assistance to some motorists whose machine had gone over an embankment, throwing one of the party, a woman, into Echo Lake. The President's car was running around the edge of the lake near Ludlow, Vt., when it came upon a group of persons surrounding a small machine hanging over the side of the road.

With Dr. Cary Grayson, Mr. Wilson alighted from his car and inquired whether any one had been hurt. He was told that Mrs. Bert Balch, of Ludlow, had been thrown into the lake and badly bruised, and that another woman and a man had been slightly hurt. He expressed sympathy and inquired whether Dr. Grayson could do anything and was informed that the injured had been removed to a farm house.

The President offered to have his automobile pull the wrecked machine back over the embankment, but an automobile truck already had been sent for.

Independence Day will be spent by the President with his family, quietly.

Additional Secret Service Men.

Cornish, N. H., July 4. — With the arrival here today of additional secret service men extra precautions were taken to guard President Wilson from cranks who might be stirred up by the assault on J. P. Morgan and the explosion in the capital at Washington.

All strangers in Cornish and Windsor are being carefully scrutinized.

She was well know socially in Richmond and New York.

THREATEN LINER CARRYING CANADIAN PREMIER.

Sir Robert Borden. The Adriatic. Ruy Nickalls.

Germans in the United States have threatened that the White Star liner Adriatic (owned by a British corporation) carrying Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, to a war conference in London, will be sunk by a submarine. The vessel left the other day, and though the name of the premier did not show on the passenger list it was well understood he was on board. He had refused when he arrived in New York to name the vessel on which he would sail. She carried also Guy Nickalls, the English coach of the Yale crew, which has just beaten Harvard in their annual 'varsity race; and a small number of Americans; in all 420 passengers.

The sinking of the Armenian by a new and enormous German submarine has added to the fear over the fate of the Adriatic. And there would be more reason to sink the Adriatic than the Lusitania; she carries a large cargo of contraband of war, while the Lusitania's cargo was insignificant. There were nearly 200 auto engines and tractors lashed to the deck of the vessel, but although the manifest has not yet been made public it was understood she carried more implements of war in her hold.

The Adriatic, under ordinary circumstances, would enter the danger zone on Tuesday evening, July 6. It may be, however, that her owners, warned by the fate which overtook the Lusitania, may order the skipper to go out of his regular course, perhaps to the north of Ireland, in order to eliminate as much as possible the ever-present danger of German submarines in the war zone around the British Isles.

CARRANZA TROOPS MADE TO RETREAT

Mexico City Opposes the Return of Carranza.

HUNGRY MOBS INCREASE

Couriers Report That People of the Capital Are in State of Panic —Revolution Leaders Are Disappointed.

Peubla, Mexico, June 8 (by Mail to New Orleans, July 4.)—After more than ten days' fighting in an effort to reoccupy Mexico City, Carranza troops under General Gonzales are retreating and reports are current that Carranza's hope to regain the capital has been checked for at least another month if he takes the city at all.

The failure of Gonzales to occupy the city has had a disappointing effect upon revolution leaders scattered frrm Puebla to Carranza headquarters at Vera Cruz. Zapata and the convention government in Mexico City were about to put up an offensive resistence and the offensive was a surprise to Carranza adherents. Ever since President Wilson's warning to the Mexican chiefs it has been the belief that Carranza staked his hope for recognition by the United States on his ability again to assume control in the capital. His troops left Vera Cruz and Puebla in a jubilant spirit and with the expectation that the expedition would be in the nature of a holiday.

Defeat met Gonzales' every attempt to enter the city. He was driven out of the passes leading into the Valley of Mexico. His success in penetrating into one of the suburbs and liberating 400 prisoners in Tacuba jail resulted only in a slaughter of his men and, finally, wounded, torn and hungry the entire Carranza force fell back.

Gonzales has been advised that the people of Mexico City, soldiers and civilians, are opposed to the return of Carranza, that the merchants fear looting should Carranza troops enter and that thousands of people who surge the streets in hunger riots would be moved to greater violence should more troops without food supplies be thrown into a city which is already on a famine basis.

Telegraphic communication between Puebla and Mexico City has been interrupted for more than a week but messages brought by couriers declare the people in the capital have been in a state of panic, that the mobs demanding food have increased daily, that hundreds are dying directly or indirectly from starvation, that merchants, fearing looting, have barricaded their shops, and that the diplomatic corps has been meeting daily to devise means for the protection of foreign lives and property. The fact that the convention government has removed its archives and treasury funds to Cuernavaca and that trains are kept in readiness to remove the government officials there also, should the emergency require, has added to the tension.

Paris, July 4.—The funeral of General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, who died here Friday, will be held Tuesday morning at the Catholic church of St. Honore d'Eylau.

MINISTERIAL CRISIS IS THREATENING IN JAPAN

Held That Government's Diplomacy is Responsible for Chinese Boycott.

Tokio, July 4. — A threatened ministerial crisis resulted from criticism directed by the elder statesmen against the policy of Baron Katotha, Japanese foreign minister, is absorbing the country.

Marquis Inouye and Marquis Matsukitata, both elder statesmen, discussing the financial and business interests of the empire, held that the government's diplomacy was responsible for the Chinese boycott against the Japanese and for misunderstanding current abroad of Japan's intentions.

It is reported that Katsunosuke Inouye, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, who is a son of the elder statesman Marquis Inouye, has tendered his resignation, as a result of the controversy.

It is understood that a compromise has been reached by the various political parties in the interest of the national welfare and because of the war, involving the adoption of a conciliatory programme toward China and it is believed a crisis has been averted, temporarily.

He was paralyzed June 1. He was 62 years old. Captain McCall was Republican candidate for governor against Charles T. O'Ferrall, 20 years ago.

MORGAN FIRM BIG WAR SUPPLY AGENT

Has Handled $500,000,000 in Contracts for Europe.

MOSTLY FOR BRITISH

Half of Amount of Contracts is for Ammunition, Only a Small Part of Which, it is Claimed, Has Been Forwarded.

New York, July 4.—In explanation of the part J. P. Morgan & Co. has taken in the furnishing of war munitions and supplies for the European nations at war, it was stated authoritatively here tonight that the firm had handled more than $500,000,000 worth of contracts for the account of foreign governments since the war began.

Of this amount about $400,000,000 worth has been purchased for the British since the Morgan firm was appointed agents for Great Britain in this country, and $50,000,000 worth for the French contracted for within the last month, the Morgan firm having been appointed by the French government to act in the same capacity as it does for the British government.

About one-half of the total amount contracted for in this country represents contracts for ammunition, shells, powder and the like, but of the whole amount of ammunition contracted for only a small part, it was stated, had been forwarded to the purchasers. The remainder is being manufactured.

The Morgan's firm commissions for placing the contracts was said to be on a sliding scale which began at 2 per cent. and decreased in proportion to the magnitude of the contracts.

It was explained for the total of $450,000,000 worth of war supplies contracted for by the Morgan firm only a small proportion has been paid, although advances have been made to some firms.

This explanation was given to correct the impression that the large purchases of war supplies had been responsible for the fall in foreign exchange. The low quotations were due, it was stated, to enormous purchases in this country of grain and foodstuffs.

WIFE AND CHILDREN OF MORGAN WERE TO BE HELD HOSTAGES

And Killed With Dynamite, if Financier Refused to Do Holt's Bidding.

SO THE ASSASSIN SAYS

Victim of His Bullets Continuse to Show Improvement, Resting Easily

Glen Cve, N. Y. July 4,Mrs. J. P. Morgan and Morgan children were to be held as hostages in their own home and killed with dynamite if J. P. Morgan refused to use his influence to stop the exportation of war munitions, Frank Holt, who yesterday attempted to assassinate Mr. Morgan at his home near here, told Police Commissioner Arthur Woods in i cell at Mineola today. Holt said his plans miscarried; that he planned to send Mr. Morgan out to stop the exportation of munitions while he held the other members of the family in an upstairs room.

Mr. Morgan, the victim of the bullets which Holt fired, continued to show improvement today. The only bulletin issued was reasuring. It said the bullet did not enter the abdomen and that an X-ray examination showed that no bones had been damaged. Late tonight it was said the financier was resting easily; that he had slept all the afternoon. No reference was made to another bullet which was said yesterday to have came out of the upper part of the leg.

Neither Mr. Morgan nor members of his family were told of the startling statement made by Holt to Commissioner Woods. The Morgan home was closely guarded today. The force of armed men surrounding the estate was doubled as the day wore on and all suspicous looking persons were kept at a distance. Every incoming train was watched.

Prayers for Stricken Man

Not more than a dozen visitors were received at the Morgan home. Mrs. Morgan remained at the bedside of her husband. Junius Spencer Morgan, Mr. Morgan's son, and his bride and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee went to church at Lattingtown Chapel, where prayers were offered for Mr. Morgan's speedy recovery.

Prayers for the stricken financer also was said in all the Glen Cove churches.

Holt, who had spent a sleepless night in his cell at the Mineola jail, appeared dejected today. He spent most of his time writing letters. He was visited by Chief Flynn of the secret service, who wanted to learn more about his movements in Washington prior to setting the bomb which exploded in the United States Capitol.

To Commissioner Woods, who visited him Holt today told briefly how he planned to hold as hostages Mrs. Morgan and the Morgan children while he sent Mr. Morgan out to stop the exportation of munitions of ar.

Describes His Plan

"My plan," said Holt, "was to get hold of Mrs. Morgan and the children and take them nto an upstairs room and then send Mr. Morgan out to see his influential friends to stop the exportation of ammunitions from this country.

"I planned to take the dynamite in the room with me and cut a hole in the door and have the food shoved in through it. I planned to keep them there until Mr. Morgan returned and gave me his promise that the exportation of war munitions would stop. Unless he stopped it I would tell him of my intention to kill Mrs. Morgan and the children and myself by exploding the dynamite."

Holt then tried to tell Commissioner Woods about the terrible slaughter resulting from the war. He said he knew Mr. Morgan could stop the war and that is the reason he went to hm. He insisted he did not intend to harm him but just wanted him to "see his influential friends and manufacturers and get them to put an embargo on arms from this country".

Holt said he took the dynamite sticks with him to show Mr. Morgan the very material that was killing so many people in Europe.

Commissioner Woods asked Holt why his plans miscarried. The former university instructor's eyes brightened and he said the excitement that fol-

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS GROUPING FOR FINISH

All Clubs Have Chance at the Flag.

Brooklyns Making Strong Threat—Philadelphia Has Been Gaining on Chicago's Lead—Mathewson Regaining Form

New York, July 4.—With the halfway mark of the baseball season major league clubs are gathering into well defined groups for the drive for the finish. Should the teams continue playing approximately as they have been during the first half of the race any one of four National League Clubs has an excellent chance for the flag; while in the American league three teams are in line for honors. In the senior organization the Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Pittsburg clubs are so closely bunched that fifty points will come close to covering the span between first and fourth. Separated sharply from the first group come the Brooklyn, Boston, New York and Cincinnati teams still nearer together, as 20 points recently has been sufficient to bridge the gap between fifth and eighth place clubs. The Chicago leaders have slipped back while Philadelphia has been gaining and St. Louis and Pittsburgh about holding their own. In the second division the long looked for brace of the Bostons has not been in evidence. Instead the club was badly mauled recently by the New Yorks, who in turn lost four straight games to Brooklyn.

The Brooklyns at present are making the strongest threat to move out of their division.

The Giants' pitching staff is proving so unreliable that the team is losing oftener than it is winning. The veteran Mathewson seems to be regaining form.

The American league race finds the Chicago team far out in front, but with the chances of Boston and Detroit by no means hopeless. The White Sox pace however, is a dizzy one, and the second and third place teams until the past week have not kept up with it. But both the Red Sox and the Tigers are doing better. In general the Chicagoans are playing a game not to be matched at present in either league. New York and Washington form the second American League group and are in a sharp fight for fourth place with the advantage just now with Yankees. In an apparently hopeless position are Cleveland, St. Louis and Philadelphia, forming the last group in the league. The once famous Athletics were still further broken up during the week. Jack Bary, long the short stop of the club, going to Boston to play second base. McInnis alone remains of the $100,000 infield.

The Federal League clubs stood at the close of the week, just as they did a week before, with St. Louis and Kansas City fighting for the leadership, the later having had slightly the better week of it. Chicago and Pittsburgh, both winning with considerable regularity, pulled up rapidly on the other two first division clubs. In the other division the Buffalo team alone gained ground, Newark doing worse than break even and Brooklyn and Baltimore dropping rapidly.

Buffalo sees a chance to get out of last place and is doing its best. The Brooklyn Federals are badly disorganized with two of their pitchers under suspension for indifferent work and its star batsman Beny Kauff on strike.

The record of games played, won and lost, with runs, hits, errors and men left on bases:

The Boston Americans, who did not show well in the beginning of the season, are now getting into their stride, and, have gone to second place in the American League. At the distance it seems they will fight it out with the Tigers of Detroit, and the White Sox of Chicago for the pennant.

Their advance is due largely to the awakening of their outfield, made up of Speaker, who is believed to draw the highest salary in baseball, and Lewis and Hooper, who have not shown in their real form during the earlier part of the season. In one game with the New York Americans theqther day Speaker made no fewer than five hits in five times at bat.

WITH JULY COMES THE MAJOR LEAGUE SCOUTS

American League Representative at Rocky Mount.

Watched the Game Saturday—Past Week in the Virginia League Reviewed—Second Half of Season Launched

(Special Star Correspondence)

Rocky Mount N. C., July 4.—With the finals of the first half season and the launching of the second, the week in the Virginia League has been one of little activity save with the two clubs of Newport News and Rocky Mount which went until the last day before a decision as to the winner of the first half season. Great crowds were attracted to the three games which decided the winner of the half season and upwards of ten thousand paid admissions for the three day series was the drawing card for the first wind up.

There was just 203 points between the lowest and the highest club at the end of the first half and with Suffolk claiming a percentage of .400 on the windup the Tar Heels captured the honors of the two months fight with a percentage of .603.

Thursday of the past week saw the launching of a final fight for the second half with Norfolk engaging the Tar Heels, The Shipbuilders at Portsmouth and Suffolk at Petersburg. With the Newport News and Rocky Mount clubs the last three days have been occasions of relaxation, and Newport News has dropped two games to the Truckers, while the Tar Heels made an even break of a two-game series, the third being rained out, with Norfolk. On the day following the final clash the Norfolk Tars were defeated by the Down Homers by a two to one score, when a fly ball in the outfield was dropped, while on Friday Norfolk made a runaway with a seventeen to six score. Suffolk hasn't hit the stride expected as yet and Petersburg took the big end of the series, which ended Saturday.

With July comes the big league scout looking material for the faster company and there was present here Saturday a representative of an American league club who desired to watch the work of certain players on the Norfolk and Rocky Mount clubs, and while nothing has leaked through as to the result of his visit, and the clubs really did nothing but "warm up", the game being rained out, there is believed to have been some significance to his visit, since a manager of one of the clubs referred to offered the astounding wager of a hundred dollars to a nickel that he sold a player into the faster company within less than two weeks. This same scout, it is thought, came this way from Petersburg where he has been sojourning, watching the Goobers and the Jungle Cats wage out a three days set to. It is understood there are three f not four players of prominence on the Suffolk club that haven't another season's sojourn in these parts. The scouting sojourn in just gotten started and it furnishes a pleasant diversion and is of great interest to the fans while the second race is tightening up.

Toledo, Ohio, July, 4.—Clarence Doty, son of "Babe" Doty, former National League pitcher, pitched a one hit game at Fort Clinton near here today. Doty did not allow a base on balls and only 30 men faced him. Doty won his game 1 to 0.

Philadelphia, July, 4.—James Tyndale Mitchell, former chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme court, ded today.. He was 81 years old. He was the author of many legal treaties.

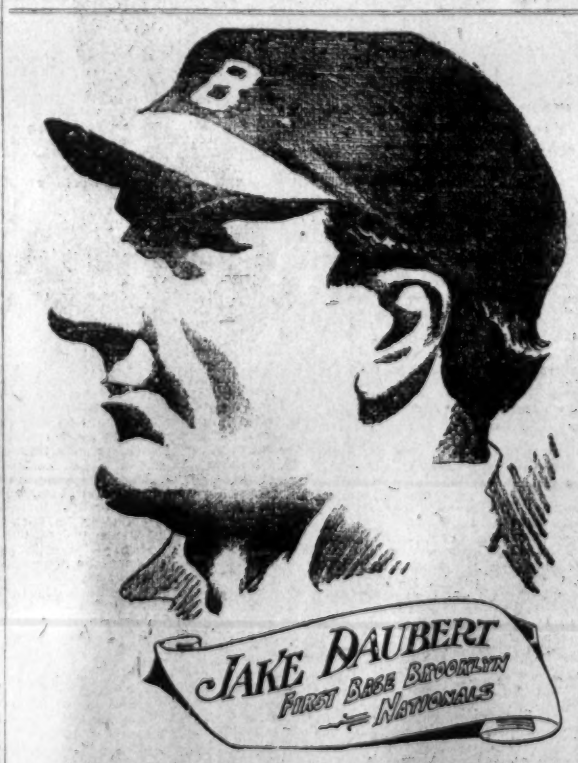
Jack Bary, short stop for the Philadelphia Athletics for several years, was sold to the Boston Americans last week. He opposed his former team mates Saturday when he played second base for the Red Sox.



Jake Daubert, of Brooklyn, has regained the batting leadership of the National League, according to adverages published in Chicago Saturday. In the American League Cobb continues in front and Magee holds the leadership in the Federal. The Nationals' leading batsmen who have taken part in at least half the gamesas played, including those of last Wednesday are: Daubert, Brooklyn, 336; J. How the Black War Cloud Has Spread Over Two Hemispheres

When Austra-Hungary, on July 28, 1914, declared war upon Serbia, the dual monarchy precipitated a general European war. When Great Britain, on August 4, 1914, declared war upon Germany, the inevtable sequel was what may properly be termed a "world war"—despite Pan-American freedom from direct complication.

The accompanying map of the two hemispheres is more comprehensive than any war map heretofore published. It indicates at a glance, in the black spaces, the extent to which war has gripped twentieth century civilization through the conflict of great powers and the dependencies of those powers.

In calculating the far-reaching effect of this war over the surface of the earth, it is fair to exclude the polar regions as necessarily "immune," with 6,970,000 square miles of territory and 300,000 inhabitants. It is fair, also, to include Portugal and its African possessions, since Portugal has declared its alliance with Great Britain, is subject to treaty call by Great Britain for thousands of troops whenever necessary, and is reported to have been in conflict with German troops in Africa.

Last, and also least, of the powers involved is the tiny republic of Marino, which, with thirty-two square miles of territory and less than 11,000 population, has cast its lot with the allies against the Turko-Germanic alliance.

The oceans, coverng 139,400,000 square miles, are not included in the territoral estimates, although the Atlantic and Pacific have been the scenes of some of the most important operations of the war. They are excluded because they are the property of no nation or group of nations, but are the common possession of the world at large.

FOR EFFECTIVE ENFORCEMENT OF REVENUE LAWS OF STATE

Corporation Commision Carrying Out Comprehensive Plan

(Special Star Correspondence)

Raleigh, N. C. July 4.—The Corporation Commision is carrying out a comprehensive plan for effective enforcement of the revenue laws of the State. Following a decision of the Supreme court last winter, in a case which the Commission caused to be brought, that the inheritance tax act applied to real as well as personal property, since 1905, they secured authority from the Legislature to employ special counsel to assist in discovering and enforcing payment of all inheritance taxes that are past due and unpaid, the compensation for such service to be on a five per cent. commission basis, which will in most cases be more than covered by the interest liability for delay in settlement, and the Commision has recently secured the service of local counsel in each county in the State to prosecute the colection of such unpaid taxes.

The Commission also secured from the Legislature an increase of its appropriation for enforcement of the revenue laws, and it is under this increased appropriation that the appointment of traveling auditors is made. They will begin work at once in the field, and will visit each county in the State for the purpose of discovering any tax liabilities that may be escaping, and particularly to see that all privilege and license taxes are collected in each county. The matter of listing incomes will also be given special attention. There are some prosperous counties in the State where no incomes whatever have been returned for taxation, and those tax payers having incomes in excess of $1,250 per year who have been swearing to their tax returns without listing any income may expect in due time to be served with notice to apear before the County Board and "Show cause", etc.

The Commision expects the traveling auditors to work in harmony with the county officers wherever this can be secured. It believes that if an understanding can once be established that the taxes levied by the State must be paid—that officers and tax payers will be held to "A strict accountability"—that there will be no further trouble; that the State will get plenty of revenue and every body will feel better about it. People who pay these special taxes will not mind doing so if they know that every one else having the same liability is required to do so. And incidentially it may be stated that every one who engages in any business or profession that is liable for a license tax under Schedule B is guilty of a misdemeanor for engaging in such business or practing such profesion without first paying the annual license tax imposed.

SANE, SAFE AND PATRIOTIC FOURTH AT THE UNIVERSITY

Summer School Students Pulled Off Various Stunts Saturday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, July 4.—The Summer School students of the University have succeeded in spending a safe, sane and patriotic Fourth. The day was celebrated here Saturday by various stunts, pageants and events which gave new color to the meaning of our nation's birthday. Every year this event attracts a large crowd of visitors from all parts of the State, and this year's attendance was larger than ever before. The procession of students formed in front of alumni building at 9:30 a. m., led by Miss Myrtle Nicholson as Columbia and J. A. Holmes as Uncle Sam. Following them came thirteen girls appropriately dressed to represent the thirteen original states. The exercises around the flag pole, the singing of patriotic airs, and the original stunts by the delegations from different colleges brought the exercises to a close. Music was furnished by the third regiment band of Raleigh. In the afternoon a baseball game between the summer and law schools furnished amusement for the crowd, and at night the time was spent in social enjoyment.

This week is rural life week of the school and prominent educators are here to discuss matters dealing with life in the country. In its efforts to be of better service to the State, the university realizes the need of better rural conditions and is making every effort to study rural problems and to improve rural conditions. Among those who will discuss this important subject are: Dr. W. A. McKeever, of the University of Kansas; President E. K. Graham; T. E. Browne, director of the Boys' Corn Clubs; Dr. H. Q. Alexander, president of the Farmers' Union; Prof. E. C. Branson, and many others whose names have not been announced. This is the third annual meeting of the conference and every year finds the work larger, more interesting and more helpful.

SANFORD CELEBRATES FOURTH IN UNIQUE AND NOVEL WAY

Many Floats in Procession Representing Various Periods of Time.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Sanford, N. C., July 4. — The Fourth of July celebration here yesterday was a success from every point of view. All parts of the county were well represented and all seemed to enjoy the day. The program as carried out was begun at 9:30 A. M., with a band concert on Depot Square by Crouse's Band, from Winston-Salem, which furnished music at intervals throughout the day, followed by address of welcome by Mayor E. L. Howard. Next came street parade which consisted of a large number of well prepared floats representing business houses, as well as periods of time and customs.

Those representing periods of time were as follows: Indian period, with gentlemen and ladies dressed in Indian costume riding horseback; a boat representing the Mayflower, loaded with pilgrims; Colonial Days, by a float occupied by George Washington and Lady Washington; Ante-Bellum Days; the Present Day, by auto well filled with ladies. This was followed by Sanford's Future Hope, an auto filled with boys and girls; Justice and Humanity; Future Days came next, showing a large screen upon which were painted sky-scraper buildings with flying machines passing over the city. The United States was represented by an attractive design, labelled: "All Nations Look to Us." The Girls' Tomato Clubs and Boys' Corn Clubs brought up the rear of the procession, and was a feature of the parade.

At 11 o'clock addresses were made by Profs. E. C. Branson, of the State University, and T. E. Browne, director of the Boys' Corn Club work of the State. These were both interesting and instructive.

BIG CELEBRATION AT LAKE WACCAMAW LARGELY ATTENDED

Columbus County People Addressed by Mr. Joseph W. Little.

Lake Waccamaw, July 3.—The annual celebration of Independence Day took place today at the lake. A great number of people from all parts of Columbus county here there with their lunch baskets, and found the shores of this beautiful stretch of water ideal for picnic parties. In the opinion of many the crowd was not as large as it has been in previous years, but this may be attributed to the fact that the celebration took place on the third instead of the fifth, contrary to the expectations of many of the country people.

Among the many attractions of the day was a basketball game between the teams of Clarkton and Councils, which drew a good crowd. A number of motor boats wer ekept busy carrying passengers for short rides over Waccamaw's waves, and scores of people enjoyed the good swimming that the lake affords.

One of the principal events of the day was a speech by Joseph W. Little, Esq., of Wilmington, a candidate for Congress from the Sixth district. Unfortunately, the strong wind that blew from the water made openair speaking extremely difficult, and Mr. Little had to condense his remarks on this accounts. After introducing himself to the people of Columbus county in a very pleasing manner, Mr. Little spoke briefly upon the excellent prospects for the advancement of the county in agricultural, educational and industrial matters. The people gave the speaker a good reception, and appeared to be favorably impressed by his speech and personality.

WARSAW GETTING READY

Preparing to Hadle More Tobacco Than Ever Before.

Warsaw, N. C., July 4.—With the building of two large tobacco prizeries, Warsaw is preparing to handle more tobacco this year than ever before in its history.

One of the new prizeries will be occupied by Mr. A. B. Anderson, buyer for the Imperial Tobacco Company. The other by Mr. Stanley Hall, buyer for the Export Tobacco Company. Both of these gentlemen handle large quantities of tobacco, and together with the companies which they represent, are, in a large measure, the backbone of the local market.

Warsaw is fast forging ahead as a tobacco market and this year will claim its place among the big markets of Eastern Carolina. The Warsaw Tobacco Board of Trade is composed of wide awake business men. Its warehousemen are among the best in the State, who by their efforts, have built the Warsaw market bigger each year, and this year, they will build it bigger than ever.

Mr. T. B. Massie, president of the Warsaw Board of Trade, has just returned from a trip through the Warsaw tobacco section, and reports the prospect for the tobacco crop the best in years. He says, that although there was little increase in acreage the yield per acre will be very much greater, and this together with drawing from other territory, will enable Warsaw to sell fully one-third more tobacco than ever before.

There is some complaint of tobacco "buttoning" too low, and worms are on the rampage trying to reduce the crop, but this is causing little uneasiness. The farmers and buyers are growing anxious to know something about the prices tobacco will bring this year. If anyone can give information on this point, let us know it.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and Her Young son, Russell

Mrs. Harry Thaw, wife of the man who is again making a strong legal effort to escape incarceration in the Matteawan Asylum as a lunatic, has been found hiding in a bungalow in the far northern part of New York State, while the trial of her husband is going on in New York City. This photograph is the latest taken of her and her young son, Russell, who is with her in her seclusion.

The deputy attorney general of New York, who is trying the case against Thaw, made efforts to find the wife that he might place her on the stand as a witness against her husband. However, newspapermen found her long before the state's officials even learned where she was.

Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, now in the death house at Sing Sing awaiting execution for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, three years ago, created a scene in the prison reception room the other day after he learned the court of appeals of New York State, his last hope, had refused to grant him a new trial. He bitterly denounced Governor Charles Whitman, the only person who could save him from the electric chair, by pardon or commutation of sentence.

He grew so frantic that he even threatened to repudiate his own wife were she to go to the governor to ask for clemency.

"If you go to Whitman," declared Becker to his wife after she had insisted that she would appeal to the governor as a last resort, "I'll repudiate you! That—— won't lift a finger to save me, although he knows I'm innocent. There's no God in heaven!" exclaimed the prisoner emphatically. "If there was I wouldn't be deserted like this!"

Each community in North Carolina ought to make a study of its own peculiar advantages and adaptibilities. If it doesn't it won't get any publicity so's you'd notice it.

It requires money to do something from which success can be expected. When we blow in 30 cents for limelight we have to be satisfied with what little is coming to us.

It is stated that Czar Nick is going to the front, but it is hoped no paragrapher will be so reprehensible as to say that he is going out to meet the front coming back to the rear.

The reports of conditions in the City of Mexico were exaggerated. Probably the conditions in Mexico are about as good as are the conditions in any other country where war is going on. We do not expect much out of war, for we are not one of its friends.

The Newbern Sun has reached the eighth year of its existence and it grows brighter and more excellent all the time. Whenever The Sun folks can't think of anything else they make The Sun shine with increased glow.

To dispute with a man about his convictions or his taste shows that some people have more time to waste than they have convictions or taste of their own. Even the Romans knew this much: "Nil disputandum de gustibus non."

Another thing which makes war equal to perdition is the pension roll. Still another is that when a man gets shot to pieces or has his health destroyed on account of his country's war, his country begrudges the aid that he needs. If the nation hates to pay pensions it ought to hate to plunge into war and expect men to be killed and maimed and worn by disease and age while other people remain at home to make all sorts of money. It is the fraudulent pension that should be objected to but not the one that is deserved.

Says the New Orleans States: "Italy has not declared war against Germany, nor has Germany declared war against Italy". Probably Germany will tender her friendly services to Italy as soon as she occupies all the territory she wants. If Italy gets what she went to war for, she might quit if it is satisfactory to Austria. It may be a friendly war, the same as a friendly suit in court. For some reason or other, neither Germany nor Austria seems to have gotten excited over Italy's action, and neither do the Allies lay emphasis upon what they hope Italy will do. Probably Machaevelli has a successor who will disclose what is going on.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORK

The mid-summer edition of the Rock Hill Magazine is out and from pictures and stories we get the reason why that thrifty South Carolina town has grown and flourished to such an extent that it is listed in the United States census reports among "the principal cities of the United States." The magazine indicates how a live town made itself grow by making all the section around it grow at one and the same time.

Rock Hill has one of the livest chambers of commerce in the South. The town made it live, because the dynamic units in it made it hump itself so it could be made to think it was worth while the support of an aggregation of live wires. The Rock Hill chamber keeps several irons in the fire and it hammers on them till they don't get time to cool.

The Rock Hill chamber firmly decided that several things must be done for the town, and therefore committees and departments were set to work to specialize on specific lines, while the whole body got behind each committee or department to see that something had to be done. Rock Hill had to have manufacturing and industrial enterprises. It had to have good streets and be beautified. It had to have social work of all kinds done for the town. It had to have civic work done, and it had to keep up plans to attain efficiency of the highest degree. It had to keep things from dragging, and the chamber of commerce sees that nothing lags. It absolutely refuses to be made tired or to tire anybody else by slow coach methods of any description.

The Rock Hill chamber of commerce determined upon what constituted the resources and potential factors to be utilized in making a bang-up town. One of them was agriculture and a chamber department was put on the job. It was realized that a thrifty town must have a thrifty rural district, and the chamber and the farmers, have co-operated and are making the country keep up with the town. The farmers were urged to go into the livestock industry and the chamber took a hand with them. Success was scored.

Rock Hill eats beef steak produced at home. It is shipping the highest class of Hereford beef cattle to Richmond, Baltimore, and several Northern markets. Rock Hill has a market day and buyers of cattle are notified when cattle concentration day rolls around so bidders may put in their appearance. No experiment was made along this line but a success was what was aimed at and achieved.

In the first place, the chamber of commerce and the farmers decided that the livestock industry and grazing and forage production had to go hand in hand. They were linked up together and alfalfa, clover and all other forage crops tell the tale of success.

The Rock Hill Magazine illustrates a large shipment of thoroughbred cattle, fat and sleek, concentrated at Rock Hill for shipment. It also illustrates ten pure bred Hereford bulls bought by the National Union Bank, of Rock Hill, to be loaned free of charge to the farmers. Upon being induced by the chamber to do so, the bank invested $2,000 in thoroughbred Hereford bulls to be placed throughout the county. The bank receives no income on its bovine investment, but it expects to get the profits by enriching the farmers and by making the surrounding country grow.

Rock Hill is going to have a creamery and a packing house, and it is laying the foundation for these industries by getting every farmer interested in raising cattle, hogs and other meat animals. So it goes. Co-operation is the chief element of the Rock Hill booster plan.

WE HAVE BURDENS OF OUR OWN

A few Mexicans were seen dangling from trees and telegraph poles between the City of Mexico and Vera Cruz, several days ago. Probably this isolated instance along with others, leads many to believe that sights like that are common all over Mexico. They may be. However, Mexico is a large country and doubtless there are sections of it that have not heard of the incident mentioned. We are too prone to judge a whole country or state by what may happen in one lawless vicinity of very small dimensions. During a state of war anything is liable to happen, even in the best regulated countries. The large state of Georgia cannot justly be judged by the Atlanta condition which made it necessary for state troops to be called out to prevent a mob from taking the governor of the state in hand.

The people of each community, section or nation have their own ideals, and it is quite impossible to establish a standard of society just as we would have it everywhere. What might be a fine thing in America might not be suitable for Mexico. We could no more expect the Mexicans to adopt our ideals and live by our standards than we could hope to make the Bushi Bazouks as gallant and dashing a band of glad-handers as American Rough-Riders. The fact is some of us would prefer not to be the commander of Rough Riders but would rather be the autocratic chief marshal of the North Carolina State Fair.

We have to understand these things in America if we expect to deal sensibly with Mexico. That country has problems of its own that we know nothing about and could not settle in our own way. In fact, the North never could get the Southerners to adopt its imaginary idea of compelling the South to conform to its theory as to social and political equality. Even now, a large element at the North does not understand that the grandfather clause is simply a means of safeguarding Southern civilization and Southern ideals, which are as radically different from theirs as are those of Hogan's Alley and Broadway.

In view of the fact that certain conditions in New York City cannot be unified, how can we expect Mexico to get busy and establish civilization and political standards similar to those in the United States?

How could any of us compel New York to accept North Carolina's idea as to regulating the sale and drinking of ardent spirits at the rate of only two quarts a month shipped in from some other place?

Intervention in Mexico is an enlargement of the idea of one man that it is up to him to remove the mote from another fellow's eye while he can't bat his own eye on account of the beam that is in it.

"KNOW GEORGIA," TOO

North Carolina did not start her State Bureau of Publicity any too soon. Georgia has a "Know Georgia" movement and is organizing a State-wide movement along systematic lines to secure settlers. A State-wide meeting is to be held at Tybee, near Savannah, July 17, for the purpose of making a united effort to induce homeseekers to see Georgia first. The purpose is to make plans for securing a desirable class of immigrants from European countries. The Savannah News thus refers to the purpose of the Tybee meeting:

"While it is under the auspices of the Savannah Board of Trade, that institution isn't the moving spirit in the movement to bring about the development of the idle lands of the State. The Southern Settlement and Development Organization of Baltimore is the forceful factor in the situation, and this organization represents the railroads of this section of the South. The railroads are deeply interested in having the lands brought under cultivation—made productive—because in proportion as the lands are cultivated the railroads will prosper.

"The main purpose of the Tybee meeting is to organize a Georgia branch of the Southern Settlement and Development Organization. A branch is being organized in every one of the South Atlantic states. The aim in organizing these branches is to get the people thoroughly interested in settlement and development work. It stands to reason that a great deal more can be accomplished in the direction of developing the State's agricultural resources if the people of the different towns and counties are interested than if they are not. If the people are interested every effort will be made to encourage the coming of settlers to get whatever is necessary in the way of legislation and to make colonists satisfied and comfortable. It is much easier to settle up and develop idle lands where the whole community is enthusiastic in behalf of such an undertaking than if there is indifference. The branch of the Southern Settlement and Development Organization that will be organized at Tybee will bring each community in the State into sympathy with this settlement and development movement and aid immensely in making it a success.

"We haven't heard a great deal in this part of this State of the Southern Settlement and Development Organization since it was started, but it hasn't been asleep by any means. It has been extremely active in a number of states, and its work is apparent in the southwestern part of this State. And now we are to feel its influence not only in this part of the State, but its activities are to become more intense throughout the whole State."

The Tybee meeting really is for the purpose of organizing for co-operation with the Southern Settlement and Development Organization. The State which does not prepare to settle homeseekers will not get many settlers. While all the State will organize to aid and promote immigration, each county has to make ready to get its share or none. The section which organizes the best settlement scheme will get the settlers.

HUGE SHRAPNEL ORDERS

All the sheet metal, iron works and foundries in the United States seem to be turning their attention to manufacturing shrapnel and other war munitions. Even the American Can Company is turning its attention to making shrapnel, in addition to turning out can products for the commissaries for the allied armies.

The American Can Company has just closed a shrapnel deal for $70,000,000. The orders will be delivered over a period of several months. The plant will be enlarged and the factory will be converted into one of the largest shrapnel producing plants in America.

A Canadian concern also has received a $75,000,000 order for munitions, not to mention the huge contracts that other concerns in the United States are filling. It seems that Europe is destined to spend all its money in America.

DETECTING TUBERCULOSIS EARLY.

Symptoms Are More Accurate Guides Than Physical Signs.

(State Board of Health.)

"Anybody can diagnose consumption in the late stages," says Dr. Lawrence Brown, of Saranac Lake, New York, who is one of the country's best diagnosticians for early tuberculosis. "After the disease has progressed to the point where there is frequent coughing, much sputum, fever, sweats and a flushed face, even a careless doctor will know it, but a diagnosis at that stage is not worth much to the sick man."

It is Dr. Brown's opinion that consumption should be diagnosed not only before there are any bacilli in the sputum, but also before the physicians can find any signs in the chest.

He holds that whenever a person who has been exposed to tuberculosis infection, particularly in childhood, and who later passes through any debilitating experiences and then develops a little fever, has a little cough, tires easily, loses color and loses a little weight, a diagnosis of probable tuberculosis should be made, even though a physical examination shows no signs of consumption in the lungs and there are no bacilli in the sputum, if there is any sputum.

This probability is increased if the person is ten pounds below the average weight for height and age, and if he has a pulse that is a few beats, say ten, faster than the average. In other words, he puts the history and a general sizing up of the situation above all other factors in making a diagnosis of very early stage consumption. He certainly puts it ahead of bacilli in the sputum as a sign, for that sign comes rather late. He says symptoms are a better and more accurate guide to activity than physical signs.

WARM WELCOME TO IMMIGRANTS

Nowhere Are They Treated Better Upon Arrival Than in Brazil.

(Rio de Janeiro Dispatch.)

No country in the world treats immigrants better on their arrival than does Brazil, for the people here look upon the newcomers as guests worth having, and as likely to become permanent residents only if accorded the right kind of reception at the start.

The arrangements made for the reception of immigrants are almost perfect. The immigration station in this capital consists of a number of buildings built especially for the temporary housing of thousands of men and women and children who come as strangers to a strange land and who must be instructed and patronized, rather than treated indifferently. The moment the steamer reaches port all arrangements have been perfected for transferring the newcomers from the ship to the immigrant quarters. Plenty of food, and clothing, where necessary is provided. In many cases the immigrants when leaving home have not taken into consideration the difference in climate here as compared with the native land, but they are made as comfortable as possible by the government officials.

It is this cordiality which has caused many of the imigrants to look with gratitude upon the republic in which they have settled. When they are usually sent along to their destination, either in the sections north of here or to Sao Paulo in the south, the same kindly disposition marks the attitude of the authorities toward the people from across the sea.

The European war has called a considerable halt on immigration from Italy and other countries involved in the struggle. Portugal's neutral attitude finds an acho here, where so many of the European nations have business interests. It is a question whether after the war there will not continue to be a lull in emigration from Europe to Brazil, at least until the countries are brought back to more normal conditions.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A recent report of the Commission for the Relief of Belgium gives a clear idea of the extraordinary task which the commission has carried forward. The Belgian population in the occupied area is now not far from 7,000,000, and throughout this area business is at a standstill. The great bulk of this population in normal times is engaged in manufacture, transportation and mining. They are largely dependent upon imports for their food, but there is no possibility of transacting a normal trade with them. Those who have money are as helpless as those who have not, except as some neutral agency brings the food in and distributes it.—St. Louis Republic.

The Huerta incident comes at an unfortunate time and tends to create suspicions that may complicate the situation and possibly embarrass the benevolent intention of our government to straighten out peaceably the Mexican tangle. If there are any plotters, American or foreign, engaged in an attempt to create a new or to revive an old issue in Mexico, their action will not serve the purpose for which it is designed. It may have the effect of convincing the American people that our intervention should be delayed until we can get at the facts and the people behind the Huerta movement and ascertain how far the appeals for our interposition have been worked up by the same outside agencies which are said to be promoting the Huerta rising. —Baltimore Sun.

It is no answer to the American protest for Great Britain to suggest or even to prove that contraband shipments from this country have in the past months of the war found their way into Germany, or that, despite limitations, American trade has maintained a degree of prosperity. Shipments of absolute contraband leave the United States every day consigned to allied ports, and we point out to Germany with equal justice and accuracy that it is not the duty of a neutral, but of the belligerent, to prevent these goods reaching their destination. We point out, moreover, that the preventive measures taken, when they concern our citizens, must accord with the rules of civilized warfare. We tell Great Britain exactly the same thing—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

In his address before the Legislature Senator Smith said that if our government protested strongly enough to the British government against interference with American commerce on the seas the protest would be respected, and that if respected Germany would cease her submarine warfare. According to Senator Smith, therefore, the way to avoid trouble with Germany is to require the British government to observe strictly the rights of neutrals on the seas. That is a view that is worth considering. Germany has said that if the British government would permit breadstuffs to reach her she would stop torpedoing the merchant ships of her enemies, and if she stopped torpedoing them there wouldn't be any danger of this country getting into trouble with Germany. Our only trouble with Germany thus far has come from the torpedoing of merchant ships without giving their passengers time to escape. In other words, whatever danger there is of this country getting into trouble with Germany comes from the activities of Germany's submarines, the refusal of Germany to order her submarines to give passengers and crews of merchantmen time to escape before sinking them. But would Germany stop her submarine warfare on merchant ships of her enemies if Great Britain were to strictly respect the rights of neutrals on the seas? That is a question that has already attracted some attention.—Savannah News.

WILMINGTON TO HAVE USUAL HOLIDAY TODAY

Celebrations at Beaches Will Feature the Fourth.

Athletic Events and Other Attractions Will Be Provided for the Amusement of Thousands Who Will Take Day Off.

Wilmington will have a holiday today in observance of the Glorious Fourth and thousands of people will spend the day at Wrightsville and Carolina beaches, provided the weather is not too unfavorable. The forecast is for showers but the weather man may miss his guess. Athletic events and other attractions have been arranged for the amusement of the thousands of visitors who will throng the seaside resorts. However, the biggest thing, after all, will be the fact that the holiday will afford busy men and women an opportunity to have a day of rest.

The banks will be closed as well as all the public offices and the postoffice will observe holiday hours. Many of the business houses will also be closed. The notable feature of the Fourth—which this year is observed on the fifth because of yesterday being Sunday—in Wilmington is that the majority of the city residents can get away to enjoy the sea breezes.

Wrightsville Beach has been decorated with thousands of flags and today the island will be in gala attire. A special feature of the day will be the athletic events at Lumina beginning at 10:30 a. m. There will be both athletic and aquatic sports including races, standing and running jumps, canoe racing and swimming. These events will be similar to those usually given on the Fourth.

The two councils of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will operate excursions to Carolina Beach. Three boats will leave the pier at the foot of Princess street during the day, one at 9 a. m., one at 2:30 p. m. and one at 7:30 p. m. There will be the usual athletic events at this beach besides special music, dancing and other features.

It is expected that there will be a large number of visitors in the city from nearby points.

NOT AN IGNOBLE WORK

Caring for Babies Should Be Considered As Honored Work

"I have heard it whispered around that caring for babies is not considered as noble a task as some other kinds of work", said a prominent Wilmington lady the other day. "Now, if that is the case, that is something to think about and it should be considered seriously. To my mind there is no nobler work than this and I honor and respect the woman or girl who uses her God-given talents in this way."

"To roll baby carriages up and down the street is not a thing to be ashamed of. It is not one that should cause any girl to feel that she is doing something she ought not to do or one that her companions should in any way censure her for.

"Men and women are governed largely by their ideals. As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. Surely men or women, boys or girls, have the wrong ideals, if for a minute they think that working in the home, caring for the chldren or even cooking, if it is necessary or if they so desire, is not as good, as uplifting and as potent a factor in the world's progress as performing any other duty that comes to hand.

"I am glad that my daughters know how to cook," she continued, "and I am glad that I can go into the kitchen and cook whenever it is necessary. I am also glad that I honor the woman or the girl who can care for children and that I consider this as honorable as anything that they could do".

This Wilmington woman is deeply interested in seeing that the children of the city receive proper attention. She believes that there should be no one frowned upon because perchance she is spending her days in caring for babies or in looking after children.

MR. JOHN W. HOLMES PASSED AWAY LAST NIGHT

Popular Seaboard Conductor Died at James Walker Memorial Hospital.

Many friends in Wilmington and throughout this section will learn with deep regret of the death of Mr. John W. Holmes which occurred at the James Walker Memorial Hospital last night at 10:30 o'clock. He was stricken with paralysis while on duty as baggage master on the Seaboard on June 10 and had been at the hospital since that time. He was 47 years old and served as conductor on the Seaboard for several years but suffered injuries in 1900 which incapacitated him for this work and since that time had served as baggage master.

For a time after being stricken he appeared to be improving but last Thursday had a relapse. It was not until yesterday morning, however, that it was seen that the end was near. The end came peacefully.

Surviving him are his wife, one daughter, Miss Ethel Holmes, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Burney, of Wananish, all of whom will have the tenderest sympathy of a host of friends.

Mr. Holmes was a member of Calvary Baptist church. He was very popular with all who knew him and lived a useful and honorable life. He made his home in this city at No. 306 North Seventh street.

The funeral arrangements had not been completed last night bu will be announced later.

HERBERT WANTS MATCH.

Writes Letter Challenging Cunningham for Wrestling Bout Here.

George Herbert, who styles himself the former world's featherweight champion, who was recently defeated in a wrestling match in this city by Johnny Cunningham, has written a letter to The Star from Richmond, Va., in which he states that he wishes to issue a challenge to Cunningham or Max Johnson, of Wheeling, West Virginia. The latter, he says, has been challenging all wrestlers throughout the South.

Herbert says that he was matched with Johnson for a finish match to be held in Wilmington last week, but for some reason unknown to him the bout was cancelled. Herbert declares he is anxious to meet either Cunningham or Johnson.

"ON TO WILMINGTON IN 1916"

Extended Account of Recent Baptist Seaside Chautauqua in Biblical Recorder—All Pleased.

"If there were any misgivings at the beginning about the outcome of the Chautauqua there was only enthusiasm at the close," writes J. M. Broughton, Jr., of Raleigh, in an extended account of the recent Baptist Seaside Chautauqua in the Biblical Recorder last week. He points out that it is now "On to Wilmington in 1916."

"The first annual session of the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua," he writes: "came to a successful close Sunday night after a week of profitable study and pleasure at Wrightsville Beach. If there were any misgivings in the beginning about the outcome of the Chautauqua there was only enthusiasm at the close. With over twenty associations represented, and more than 500 persons in attendance during the week, the Chautauqua has made good and its future seems sure. It has already been announced through the press that the Chautauqua will be made a permanent thing, and the Tide Water Power Company of Wilmington has signified its willingness to construct at Wrightsville Beach an auditorium ample enough for all the needs and purposes of the Chautauqua.

"Almost without a hitch, the programme of the Chautauqua went through from the first day to the closing. With the exception of Dr. Prince E. Burroughs, who was unable to come, all the scheduled speakers were present, and comparatively no improvising was necessary. Rev. J. T. Watts, Baptist Sunday school secretary of Virginia, was added to the programme, and filled Mr. Burrough's place most acceptably. The other features, music, boat trips, etc., came off just as they had been planned, only better.

"One of the first acts of the Chautauqua, at the opening day session on Tuesday, was to elect officers. The following was the result: President, Dr. J. J. Hurt, of Durham; vice presidents, Rev. Bruce Benton, of Rockingham, Dr. R. W. Reece, of Mt Airy, Mr. H. B. Parker, of Goldsboro, Mr. N. B. Josey, of Scotland Neck, and Rev. D. J. Huat, of Cliffside; treasurer, Rev. W. M. Craig, of Wilmington, and general secretary, E. L. Middleton, of Raleigh. To fill the vacancy on the convention chautauqua committee caused by the resignation of Dr. J. H Foster who has removed from the State, Rev. W. M. Craig, acting pastor of the First church of Wilmington, was selected. Since Dr. Foster left Wilmington, Mr. Craig has been serving in his place, and both before the chautauqua and during its sessions he rendered invaluable service to the committee in charge. Mr. John A. Oates, of Fayetteville, was made chairman of the committee, and presided at its sessions during the week."

After giving an outline of the programme for the week and a brief resume of the strong addresses Mr. Broughton concludes his article as follows:

"The story of the Chautauqua would be incomplete without a word regarding the cordial hospitality of the Wilmington people. The committees on cooperation from the Baptist churches rendered the finest sort of service in preparing for the comfort and the accommodation of the Chautauqua. Also, the people of other denominations, the power company officials, the hotel owners and others, were without exception generous and gracious in their hospitality.

"The two papers of Wilmington gave largely of their columns to the Chautauqua. Front page space and interesting accounts with cuts of speakers helped greatly to boost the attendance. Both papers commended the Chautauqua editorially. They did their part handsomely in making the Chautauqua a success.

"A final word about the folks that made the Chautauqua the success that it undoubtedly was—the convention Chautauqua committee, composed of John A. Oates, chairman, E. L. Middleton, secretary; Dr. J. J. Hurt, Rev. W. M. Craig and Mr. Carey J. Hunter. Without a big vision and a staunch faith, this committee could not have succeeded. Their's was no easy task, and discouragements were innumerable. To every member of the committee—and particularly to Mr. Middleton—is due the thanks of the convention and of the denomination at large.

"The committee has gone ahead on the assumption that the Chautauqua will be held again next summer. Arrangements have been made, tentatively, with the power company, the hotels and others. Dr. McGlothlin, Miss Williams and Dr. Hubert Poteat have been secured for next season. It is now 'On to Wilmington in 1916.'"

OBSERVE FATHER'S DAY

Appropriate Exercises at Southside Baptist Church Yesterday

The Sunday School of Southside Baptist church observed Father's day yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with appropriate exercises. There was a large attendance and each visitor was given a red flower as a souvenir of the occasion. The auditorium had been attractively decorated. The service was very inspiring and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The singing of the male quartette composed of Messrs. F. G. Winstead, W. G. Hall, J. W. Curtis and J. H. Curtis was a very enjoyable and helpful part of the service. Addresses were made by Rev. W. G. Hall, Mr. J. H. Curtis and Mr. Hardy Lanier. Misses Jessie Mercer and Lucile Moore played an instrumental duet and Mr. Albert Fales gave a recitation. The singing by the congregation was an inspiring part of the service.

Prof. Henry G. Bell, Chicago—Illustrated lecture: "Science and Soil."

The entertainment committee have arranged a novel and interesting program, so that the lighter side of life social frivolity, won't be neglected—but at the same time won't be overworked.

There will be a large number of ladies in attendance, as they have always been an important factor in the meetings of the association, and have added very much to the pleasure of the occasion.

Everybody in any way interested in the fertilizer industry, directly or indirectly, whether his company is a member of the association or not, will receive a cordial welcome.

BOY HURT BY CAR

Climbed Aboard Fender, Foot Slipped and Was Dragged for a Block

Lee E. Sykes, a nine-year-old boy, was painfully hurt and narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at Ninth and Orange streets when he climbed aboard a fender on the rear of one of the cars that was leaving the car shed of the Tidewater Power Company which are located at that point. The car was being backed out preparatory to being put on the man line when the youngster thought he would save time in running an errand by riding for a block.

His foot slipped through the fender and was badly bruised up as well as other parts of his body. He had the presence of mind to grasp an iron piece with his hands and held on with main strength until the car stopped. He was taken to the office of Dr. Dickie for surgical atention. Later he was taken to his home at 120 South Ninth stret and was reported last night as getting along nicely.

Considerable annoyance has been caused the operators of street cars, it is stated, on account of boys riding on the fenders and it would be appreciated if parents would warn their boys against such practices as are likely to cause them serious injury.

HEAVY SHOWERS YESTERDAY.

People Unable to Go to Church Yesterday Morning Because of Rain.

Heavy showers fell in Wilmington yesterday morning and more than a half inch of rain was recorded in Observer Feiger's measuring machine. The showers furnished a good excuse for people to stay away from church, and perhaps the attendance was smaller on this account than has been the case for some time. The maximum temperature recorded for the day was 81 degrees, but the general dampness and marked humidity made the day anything but pleasant. A nice breeze from the South last night helped greatly.

The forecast today is for local showers with little change in temperature.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN

Dr. A. D. McClure, Pastor, Entering 25th Year of Service There—Christian Endeavor.

The services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church yesterday marked the beginning of the 25th year of Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure's pastorate. The pastor keeps injecting truth and new life into his work and his personal integrity holds the appreciation of his audience. The spirit of St. Andrew's church is to have every one in the congregation do something that will be of benefit to both himself and the church. The work of the Christian Endeavor Society is elevating to the members and gives them an opportunity to do personal work. To this Dr. McClure always lends his personal aid and allows the meeting to absorb his Sunday evening service through the summer.

Dr. McClure's subject for his morning service yesterday, being the first of his twenty-fifth year as pastor here, will be of interest to the public. The subject of the sermon was the Fourth of July observance, and the relation of civil and church government. His Bible text was the 21st verse of the 18th chapter of Exodus, and reads: "Moreover, thou shalt provide out of all the people able men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating unjust gain; and place such over them, to be rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties and rulers of tens." All the Presbyterian ministers had been requested to preach yesterday on the life of John Huss. The sermon at St. Andrew's was in keeping with the occasion and was highly appreciated by the congregation that has been pleased to call him their pastor for nearly a quarter of a century.

The evening service by the Christian Endeavor Society was also in close keeping with the problems that are right now confronting the people of this country. Their topic was "Our National Life, and How Home Missions May Benefit It." The discussions were regarding immigration, and the subject was handled from a new point of view that it is thought to be well to consider just at this time by men who understand the problems of missionary work.

The foreigners who come here from Europe come with an entirely different National life backing them. They are entirely unacquainted with ours. They are sure to judge our National worth and the stability of our religion by our every day acts. When they come here and find that economic justice is not guarded with the proper care, they see at once a serious fault in the training of our people. When a little Hungarian girl is paid ten cents for a dollar's worth of work, just because she didn't know how to demand full pay, the Hungarian people will arrive at the conclusion that American people will get others to serve them without remuneration, if possible, and will at once think the American religion has not the right influence.

A spirit of distrust and clannishness will be the natural result in these people and missionary work, that is intended by the churches to educate and make good American citizens of those who live here, will be put to a disadvantage and the religion that had partly filled their lives formerly will still dominate them, and if it crushes education, the American people will have to stand for it. Truth, justice and righteousness are the principles necessary for the American people to follow. And all this carried into the home and every day life, into the observation of the Sabbath and into the careful study of the Bible.

A number of talks were made, one of the most interesting being by Miss Black.

DON RICHARDSON'S FIRST CONCERT PLEASES

Large Crowds Enjoy Music at Lumina Yesterday.

The concert by Don RichArdson's orchestra at Lumina yesterday was much appreciated by the large crowd that attended. Richardson is well known here, having played last summer at Lumina, but his first Sunday concert for this year was a feature that well paid the hundreds and hundreds who visited the beach yesterday to hear it again. The afternoon programme began at 4 o'clock. Both the evening and afternoon programmes were of high character.

The Don Richardson Orchestra have trained until they have music down to a fine point. It can be heard all over the pavilion, but isn't the least harsh, even to those close by. This is the effect of their observing the fine points in keeping time and harmoney. There will be music every evening this week and those who admire Don Richardson will have an opportunity of hearing his excellent music. The orchestra will also play today.

Many persons of wealth and influence and well qualified to judge of fitness, have named The People's Savings Bank in their wills as Executor and Trustee. This indicates a very high degree of confidence because it means committing to the Bank's management interests held in the highest valuation—the interests of family and other heirs.

Whether your estate is to be large or of only moderate size, you cannot better assure its careful administration in the best interests of your heirs, than by having your lawyer write this Bank into your will as Executor and Trustee. If your will has been written without this provision, the omission may be corrected by a codicil. Call or write in regard to this or any savings or trust business.

PRETTY WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN HOME AT ROCKY MOUNT

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 4.—A wedding of much interest in this city was that solemnized Wednesday June 30 at high noon when Miss Carrolyn Elizabeth Barrett became the bride of Mr. Albert Ridgely Jones of this city. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents on Pearl street, and while it was a quiet one, being witnessed only by a few intimate friends and members of the bride's family, it was one of the prettiest of the season.

The home was artistically decorated for the happy occassion, the color scheme of green and white being carried throughout.

Promply at 12 o'clock the parlor doors were thrown open disclosing the improvised altar and the bridal party. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Morton, the bride's pastor, the ring ceremony being used.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a trip to Baltimore and Kinsale, Va. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Barrett of this city and is one of the most attractive and accomplished young ladies. Jones is originally from Kinsale, Va. but has been a resident of this city for several years. He enjoys a wide popularity and holds a responsible position with the Ricks and Bland Co.

THEATRICAL

Be on hand today at the Grand and see a real Paramount five-reel comedy with a real legitimate comedian, Mr. John Barrymore, who needs no introduction to the general public. His work in the past has but him far above the average comedian, and that is why he is starring in the "Man from Mexico", under the personal direction of Daniel Frohman, with a capable cast of the Famous Players Co. Drop in today and see for yourself what Paramount Pictures mean good, clean and bright comedy, not the slapstick kind, but the kind that has a reason for every situaton. In the "Man from Mexico" Mr. Barrymore has lots of opportunities, and he takes advantage of them all in good style, the play is one continuous laugh from beginning to end. Be a 'Paramount Fan." Tell your friends you are going to see something good. -

Billie Reeves is also on the program for today. He's the famous English Music Hall comedian that has been doing some great things on the screen at the Grand. Funny; is his middle name, and he lives up to it to the satisfaction of the entire world, He is featured today in a one-reel riot of comedy, "Out for a Stroll". The title itself is enough, Don't fail to see him. Tomorrow Charles Chaplin in his latest Essany comedy in two acts, "Work", better than ever.

Warren Kerrigan at The Bijou

Warren Kerrigan and Vera Simson —undoubtedly this is the most popular couple, as well as the best known, for their great work together, now in the pictures, and in announcing them as headliners for the big holiday occassion today, the Bijou has everything backed off the siding into oblivion in the quality of a big holiday bill for the "Glorious Fourth."

Warren Kerrigan in "The Oyster Dredger," Bijou Today.

Popular Kerrigan has been sorely missed since his recent illness, and many, many inquiries have been received concerning his health. This is the first picture he has made since his recovery, and with his popular little leading lady, he has made it one of the very most choice morsels of photoplay drama that he has ever acted in.

Everybody loves handsome "Warry" Kerrigan, and in this clever play he has a novel dual role, first as a poor, picturesque oyster dredger, and then as a young man of wealth and fashion. You wil enjoy his impromptu meeting with pretty Vera, and their ripening love for each other, which is developed into one of the prettiest romances, with a thoroughly original plot, that has been seen in a long while.

"The Second Beginning" is a great dramatic single reeler that comes next on today's bill, and features Frank Lloyd and Gretcher Ledgerer, while there's a mammoth Nestor screem, "The Downfall of Potts" featuring that great trio, Lee Morgan, Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde.

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

Misses Ruth Evans and Mary Hatten Hyman, of Tarboro, are guests at the home of ther aunt, Mrs. A. B. Darden, No. 11 Church street.

Despite the heavy downpour of rain during the morning and the threatening weather yesterday afternoon the travel to the beach from Wilmington was quite large. More than 2,500 passengers were carried down during the day.

Guests at the Parsley cottage include: Mrs. Mennies and two daughters, Misses J. Annet and Helen Mennies, of Wilmington; Mrs. Crawford Biggs and family, Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Brandt and Miss Mary Brandt, Florence, S. C.; Mr. Houston Everett, Rockingham; Miss Mamie Holt, Fayetteville; Miss Jack Smith, Wilson.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer: "Mr. and Mrs. John M. Harry and Mrs. Jeremiah Goff will leave Saturday for Wrightsville Beach to spend two weeks. Mr. Goff left last night for Providence, R. I., to spend several weeks on business. Mrs. R. M. Ranson has returned home after spending a week at Wrightsville Beach. Mrs. Ranson was accompanied home by Miss Mary Huey, of Wilmington."

There were a large number of Wilmington young ladies to spend the week-end at the Cooleemee cottage, among them being Misses Annie and Mary Shepard, Wilma Ek, Gladys Craig, Isabelle McDougall, Mary Lawther, Marie Chinnis, Grace McVey, Marie Yopp, Mae Whitley, Julia King, Jessie Roberts, Robbie Mitchell, Mary Marshall, Custis Meredith and Lucile Riley.

The singing of Peter J. Smith at Lumina yesterday and last evening brought out quite a lot of applause. It was an attraction worth the while of any one who cares for music. Hundreds of people visited the beach yesterday and when the singing was going on the swimmers could ride the waves all they liked, but those on the pavilion were sufficiently interested to listen to the music.

The low Sunday rates offered by the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line from nearby points are proving to be very popular. Yesterday there were 975 excursionists and practically all of these spent the day at the beach, returning to their homes last night. This is the largest number of the season and it is expected that the Sunday travel will be heavy during the remainder of the summer.

As a big special attraction Tuesday night at Lumina "Fine Feathers" a dramatic photo' play in five reels as produced by the World Film Corporation, will be shown. Janet Beecher and Eugene Walter will be seen in this play as it was produced in New York and other large cities in this country. Admirers of the movies will find it worth while to visit the pavilion and see this picture which will be one of the best shown there this season.

The Seaboard Air Line train, arriving at 12:40 yesterday afternoon, had three extra Pullmans attached which came from Atlanta. There were 150 passengers from various points in Georgia, who took advantage of the exceedingly low excursion rates of this road, and who will spend a week or ten days at the beach. Wrightsville Beach has always been especially popular with Georgia people and several thousand from this State visit this resort every summer.

SHE IS A SISTER OF J. P. MORGAN.

This is the "official" photograph of Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. She posed for it and authorized its distribution among the newspapers of the country. During the life time of her father Miss Morgan, who is about 45 years of age, did not take kindly to newspaper photographers. Several of them who photographed her in public places had trouble about it. In one case, well known, she called on a policeman, who being awed by the Morgan millions, exercised his influence and threatened to compel a weak photographer to destroy a plate. This was all due, it has been said, to the influence of the elder Morgan.

She has just opened a camp for working girls in Sterling Forest, Greenwood Lake, N. J. Twenty of the members of her vacation fund club are now encamped in the beautiful surroundings, but the full quota is expected within a few days to take advantage of lessons in rowing, swimming, woodcraft, fishing and nature studies and in enjoying the dancing in the pavilion.

LESS ACTIVITY IN STOCKS

Tendency Due to the Independence Holidays Says Henry Clews—American Stocks Selling

New York, July 3.—With the approach of Independence Holidays, the natural tendency for activity on the Stock Exchange was to diminish. During the week foreign selling of American stocks became more and more evident. This was due mainly to liquidation of foreign holdings, rendered necessary by preparations for the forthcoming huge war loan in London, and also to aid paying of Europe's gigantic war purchases in the United States. For some time to come our large excess of exports over imports is likely to have a material effect upon the international securities movement.

During the twelve months just closed our merchandise exports have exceeded imports by about $1,000,000,000. During the same period we have also imported over $125,000,000 in gold. How far the unseen items in the international acount have gone towards liquidating Europe's indebtedness, it is impossible to say. Diminished remittances on account of dividends, interest freights, tourists, commissions etc., would tend to materially counteract this excess of exports. Nevertheless, there is every prospect that a heavy preponderance of the latter will continue until the termination of the war. Orders for munitions by European governments to the extent of about $1,000,000,000 have already been received and more big contracts are in course of negotiation. The bulk of these orders, which are now being forwarded, will probably be shipped during the next twelve months. That Europe wil be able to increase her shipments of merchandise in payment is exceedingly doubtful, because each belligerent is turning so large a part of its energies to war. The conditions are, therefore, extremely favorable for a continued influx of American securities.

It is estimated that the recorded holdings of American railroad shares in Europe are about $2,500,000,000, of which more than two-thirds represent bonds and notes; but these figures do not include industrials. State and municipal issues, nor real estate or other forms of investments. When it is remembered that this country creates new securities at the rate of $1,500,000,000 to $2,500,000,000 per year, or even more, some idea of the investment capacity of the United States can be gained. In good years we have issued and absorbed $1,000,000,000 of new railroad securities alone without inconvenience, and to these figures must be added many other forms of investments not really recorded or discovered.

While this country is not today enjoying the same degree of prosperity that it did three or four years ago, it is nevertheless saving money freely, because business is fair in volume and economy has taken the place of extravagance in both business and private expenditures. The chief source of extravagance today is in Government, State and municipal interprises; a source of waste that calls loudly for restraint and greater efficiency. There is no doubt a large amount of capital seeking good investments; and, with confidence and enterprise at home established, our ability to take back a fair amount of foreign holdings in Americans is unquestioned. In all probability American investors will have a chance to buy some of the gilt-edged securities now held by rich foreign holders at prices which will yield considerable profits after the war when conditions have become more normal. A more favorable opportunity for taking back a considerable amount of American stocks could not be expected. Such a policy would strengthen this country financially and industrially. Our foreign obligations would be diminished, and Europe would be better able to conduct the war, by withdrawing temporarily at least a portion of its invested capital in the United States. This does not mean that we shall no longer need foreign capital, or that we have as yet reached the point where we will have capital to lend abroad. When normal conditions are resumed, the development of our natural resources and of our city and industrial life will require large sums; much larger in fact than we will be able to command at home. At no distant future we may again be seeking foreign capital, though not on the same scale as during the last fifty years; while on the other hand before another fifty has passed we may have become one of the first lending nations in the world, if not the first.

Perhaps the most significant effect of the war was the low prices realized on New Yory City's 4 1-2 per cent loan, proving that as a result of the war capital is commanding higher rates. This tendency should cause no surprise, but should in fact be expected to continue as long as war financing remains the dominating element in the world's finances. It is not possible to waste $18,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 dollars a year, which is what the present European war is costing, without profoundly affecting the world's supply of capital. Such waste inevitably means higher rates. The United States is the only great country not wasting its energies in war, and is the only country that is creating a new supply of capital out of savings, the owners of which will insist upon and will secure better returns. Home trade conditions are fairly satisfactory. There has been no further improvement in the volume of trade, but reports from many sections are encouraging. The steel industry reports increasing activity owing to war orders and the larger establishments are now running at about 90 per cent of their capacity, or about 50 per cent more than at the opening of the year. Prices are firm and many concerns are likely to show greatly improved net results. The railroad situation is also more satisfactory. Gross earnings are not making as good a showing as anticipated, but the results in net often show encouraging gains, and the weakest spots in the railroad situation appear to The June issues were on a particularly ed. Crops are somewhat backward owing to prevalent cool weather, but a few weeks of higher temperature would quickly compensate for this deficiency. The nation's acreage is larger than usual and the condition of most crops, particularly wheat and cotton, is entirely satisfactory.

The money market is easy and there is an abundance of funds for good investments. The July disbursements were $270,000,000, or not quite as large as usual. The offerings of new issues have been somewhat smaller. The output of new securities since January 1st was about $768,000,000, and compares with $1,082,000,000 a year ago. The June issues were on a particularly small scale, being one-half of last year's figures. On the other hand, new incorporations in the principal States aggregated $230,000,000 or $105,000,000 more than a year ago and the largest June on record. These figures at least suggest a rise in confidence. A good deal of current investment money is going into American securities returned from abroad, very considerable sums in stocks and bonds having been taken back during the past two weeks. In this way our international debt is probably being reduced more rapidly than is recognized. Further selling on foreign account is anticipated which will tend to restrain gold imports; also to diminish the necessary credits granted to Europe. Now that the available supply of gold at Ottawa has ben practically exhausted, imports from France and Russia are among the possibilities. This security market is on a sound and promising basis, but the prospect of additional European liquidation prevents any important further enhancement of values just at this time.

STOCKS BRIEFLY UNSETTLED

Week Closed After Much Activity —Weakness in Foreign Exchange —Rising Price of Capital Continues.

New York, July 4.—A more or less active week which included unprecedented weakness in foreign exchange, the United States Rubber episode and a sudden break in St. Paul shares closed with an attempt on the life of J. P. Morgan. This event caused only brief unsettlement on assurances that the financier's injuries were not of a serious nature.

The rising price of capital continues the phenomenon of the market. The half year's issues of new securities were the smallest in any similar period for some years. Hence an immense surplus reserve in banks, low money rates and high prices of short term notes compared with bonds. Foreign sales of American bonds have been large, induced by the increased returns on the new British loan. London exchange nevertheless sank to new low levels.

Bank of England gold in Ottawa approaches depletion. A fresh computation of recognized authority discloses much smaller holdings of American securities abroad than previously accepted estimates. Nevertheless arrangement of foreign loans here seems difficult. There are circumstances reports of another British loan to be altogether exempt from tax by the borrowers. It is clear, however, that American bonds owned abroad as collateral security for loans.

THE COTTON SITUATION

Government Reports About in Line With Trade Expectations.

The long awaited government reports on condition and acreage were published on Thursday last. The condition of the crop was placed at 80.3 per cent., which compares with 80 per cent. last month, 79.9 per cent. last year and a 10-year average of 79.9 per cent. The area planted to cotton was estimated at 31,535,000 compared with 37,406,000 acres. While, of course, it is impossible to make any accurate deduction from these figures so early in the season, as much will depend upon climatic conditions from now on, it is hardly to be expected that at best the final yield will exceed 13,000,000 bales.

It is true that in one year, .45 of a bale per acre was raised, and a duplication of this on the present indicated acreage would mean a crop of 14,200,000 bales. But the average yield is only about .39 of a bale per acre, and if this is equalled it should result in a crop of about 12,600,000 bales. There is no reason, however, to expect at the present time an average yield per acre notwithstanding the high condition report, for fertilizers, which mean so much in the final result, have been sparingly used this year. Although the condition of the crop as reported by the government was slightly above the average, the cotton plant has not yet had its test, and when unpropitious growing conditions do come, as they surely will, the lack of fertilizers will then unquestionably be emphasized. Already reports are coming to hand of an undersized plant, and this does not argue well for satisfactory ultimate results.

As pointed out in last week's advices the cotton acreage in foreign countries will probably be cut 30 per cent., so, taking a broad perspective of prospective supply conditions, it does not appear as if the world will be burdened with cotton during the next 12 months. Liverpool stocks which have been considered large, are gradually, but surely, being reduced. Sales at that port are running close to 15,000 bales a day, and there is every reason to believe that our first new arrivals will be absorbed for foreign account.

Textile reports in this country are extremely optimistic: B. R. & R. Knight, who are the largest manufacturers of bleached goods, report that during the last six months they have had the largest business in the history of their concern. "The American Wool and Cotton Reporter" says: "The cotton goods market is in a very satisfactory conditions, and there has hardly been a time when a wider range of cloths was in such good demand."

With prospects as they are, indicating a short crop, to gether with a continuation of present good trade conditions, purchases at the current level of values ought in the long run to prove profitable.

A Question For You

When you trade at home you keep the labor-machinery at work. A big dollar can do just so much work.

Will you have it work in your section, or will you send it North, get it out of your country, and let it work for the other people?

The South's dollar belongs to the South, and the South can keep its dollars if it will not send them to mail order houses. Patronize men in the South, and in this way you keep a Great Working Force at home.

If a few hundred men send away for their goods, they have sent out of reach a Powerful Force for Good. Keep the South's Money in the South. This means all of us should do this.

Be loyal, and the test of loyalty is your patronage of Home Institutions.

CUMBERLAND OFFICERS WOUNDED BY BAD NEGRO

In Desperate Hand-to-Hand Struggle, He Escapes.

Deputies Monaghan and Henderson Undertake to Arrest Will Evans, of the Jack Johnson Type, Without Avail.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., July 4.—In a desperate hand to hand struggle with Will Evans, a negro criminal, said to be wanted from Richmond to Charleston, Deputy Sheriffs John McD. Monaghan and John W. Henderson were wounded early this morning. Henderson thinks that he shot Evans before the negro made his escape.

Evans, who is a powerful negro of just about Jack Johnson's size and specifications, is wanted here for car robbing, store breaking and other things. About one o'clock this morning Chief Kelly, Patrolman Davis, Sheriff McGeachy and the two deputies went to the store of a negro named Murphy, in the notorious coal chute section, and lay in for Evans. Murphy, working with the police, was to decoy Evans into the store. The three first-named officers were called to headquarters before Evans showed up. When he finally entered the store, Deputy Monaghan threw a gun in his face. The negro threw his hands up to the level of his shoulders but when commanded to elevate them further, seized Monaghan and threw him across the store and piled Henderson on top of him. In the fierce fight that followed, Henderson received a flesh wound from Evans' pistol and at one time succeeded in throwing the negro to the floor, and, as the desperado, at the end of the melee, turned to flee, fired point blank at his back. Monaghan got in a terrific blow with a beer bottle to the black's head, but it never phazed him. The negro made away and has not been seen since. The officers were carried to a hospital and patched up. Deputy Monaghan was badly cut either with a broken bottle or a knife.

WIFE AND CHILDREN OF MORGAN WERE TO BE HELD AS HOSTAGES

lowed his appearance in the Morgan home upset them.

Holt declared he started for the stairs when he met the Morgan children and was walking ahead of them when he was intercepted. He had a revolver in each hand, he said, but that did not prevent some one from clutching one of hs hands. He said he thought Mr. Morgan atempted to stop him and that a scuffle followed. He became unconscious and remembered nothing until he was lodged in jail.

"I didn't want to hurt Mr. Morgan, he persisted in reiterating. "I only wanted him to do something to stop this terrible war".

Holt then told the Commissioner that he had studied until six months ago when he began to brood over the war. "I still hope that God may be accomplished by my act," he added. "I didn't care about war. I did not want America in it, but if America wasn't interested in it the war would stop."

After the interview Commissioner Woods declared the man had spent many sleepless nights. "The man appears to be mentally unbalanced", he said. "He has evidently brought himself to this very poor mental condition. He appears to be in a state of utter mental and physicial collapse".

Holt stoutly protested that he had no accomplices. "I acted alone", he said. "I realize that I did a wrong but that wrong was done to accomplish a great right".

Dr. Guy Cleighorn, the jail physician, was the only medical man to visit Holt today. "He is in an extremely bad mental and physical condition", said Dr. Cleighorn.

Writes to His Wife

Holt wrote two letters during the day. One was addressed to his father-in-law, the Rev. E. P. Sensabaugh, at Dallas, Texas, and the other to his wife, at his father-in-law's home.

To jail attendants Holt referred to his relatives in affectionate terms and said they would understand that he had attempted to do a great service to mankind. To Chief Flynn, who spent half an hour with him, Holt refused to reveal where he purchased the dynamite found on him at the time of the shooting. Nor would he tell of his moves in Washington prior to the Capitol outrage.

While being questioned by Flynn, the prisoner grew faint and was in such a state of utter collapse that jail attendants had to take him for an airing. Holt told Flynn he had written only one letter to President Wilson and said he mailed it at the same time as he did the letters sent to the newspapers.

Flynn said the activities of the secret service agents were centered on investigating the movements of Holt in Dallas, Texas, Ithaca, N. Y., Milwaukee, Wis., and other cities where he is supposed to have been.

To inquiries directed by Sheriff Pettit as to whether he wanted a lawyer, Holt replied that he had no use for any attorney, inasmuch as he was in the right.

WHERE DID HOLT STOP?

More Than 200 Hotels and Lodging Houses in Washington Searched.

Washington, July 4. — More than 200 hotels and lodging houses have been searched by the Washington police in a fruitless effort to establish where Frank Holt, the would-be assassin of J. P. Morgan, stopped when he came to Washington Friday to blow up the Senate reception room at the Capitol.

Detectives with photographs of Mr. Morgan's assailant visited today every place in the neighborhood of the Capitol and the Union station, where a room might be rented, without finding any one who would admit entertaining a man of the description. Particular attention was given to a large lodging house where Holt said he had a room, and the officers were practically convinced that is the place, although the proprietor declares he does not remember seeing such a man.

In spite of the close watch kept about the Capitol, which had been closed to visitors since the explosion, an old man who said his name was Whallen Daniels, slipped by the watchman today, and later was discovered hiding in the crypt under the dome. He delivered a rambling speech about owning the building and intending to stop "the murders in Europe," as the guards took him to a hospital for observation.

SAYS HOLT IS MUENTER.

Chicago Newspaper Has Interview with Former College Associate.

Chicago, July 4. — Assertions that Frank Holt, the would-be assassin of J. P. Morgan, and Erich Muenter, who disappeared from Harvard after the death of his wife, in 1906, are the same man, were made to a newspaper here today by an associate of Muenter during his stay as a student at the University of Chicago.

The informer, under a pledge of anonymity, said he had met Muenter since his alleged rehabilitation.

WILL TRY TO IDENTIFY.

Cambridge Police Say Holt's Description Resembles That of Muenter.

Cambridge, Mass., July 4. — The police tonight awaited word from the New York police regarding the possible identification of Frank Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan, and Erich Muenter, the former Harvard instructor, who disappeared from this city after the death of his wife on April 16, 1906, of alleged poisoning. Pictures of Muenter and a full description were mailed to the New York police.

Patrick Hurley, captain of detectives, who took an active part in the investigation of the Muenter case, declares the description of Holt tallies closely with that of the missing Harvard instructor. Should a more detailed description reveal a striking similarity between Holt and Muenter, Captain Hurley said that some one who knew Muenter would be taken to Glen Cove, for a positive identification.

Until the facts concerning Holt was received from New York, Captain Hurley said no official action would be taken.

NO SIGN OF GUNS ON BRITISH FRONT

apets which support the trenches.

Where in winter men stood freezing in water up to their knees, mud oozed from sand bags and only continual pumping and bailing kept them from complete immersion and walls continually falling in, now the only complaint of the trench housekeepers is the want of water for washing for the spongy subsoil is as dry as a bone and as hard as cement.

Casualties by Sniping Reduced.

The toll of casualties where there are only sniping and infrequently sniping has been much reduced, due only to the increased adaptibility of the men in self-protection—the result of experience in trench warfare, but to an immense improvement in the protective character of the work.

Though a trench may be on exactly the same line as it was in December spade work in the spring and summer has completely transformed it, affording small chance for either shrapnel shell bullets or bullets fired by snipers from trees or buildings to hit the defenders.

You can move only a few feet in a straight line in this maze of human warrans. The zigzag traverses localize damage. On dull days there have been instances of not a single casualty for a distance of a mile in 24 hours. It is when the artillery is concentrated and an effort is made to get through the barbed wire and take a trench that the casualty list leaps like a thermometer thrust from an ice box into an oven.

So used have they become to trench life that some soldiers prefer life in an average trench on an average day to that in billets, because sniping has the elements of sport and excitement. The confidence and patriotism of the fighting men are shown in both officers and soldiers, even if they have only a few shillings put by, in subscribing to the war loan.

Officers at the front are not discouraged by the German offensive in won by the killing of Germans and that won by th ekilling of Germans and that the further the Germans are drawn into the Russian quick sand the more wastage for them. This period of the war for the entente allies is compared with that of the North in 1863 at the time of Lee's and Jackson's success in Virginia and the Confederate advance into Pennsylvania before Gettysburg was won.

Riding about the British front even an expert observer is unable to guess how many troops the British have in France, so easy of concealment is the thickly settled country. He passes thousands of infantry changing stations or moving to the front without being any the wiser. Only Sir John French and a few staff officers really know. The officer never asks, but attends strictly to his business.

In the hard fighting in the Festubert and LaBassee region and the French offensive in the Arras region, though the changes show so little on the map, gains of a positive tactical value for the future were made. If the opinion of a lay observer counts for anything the British army is far from making anything like a maximum effort yet.

The anger of officers and men at the gas attacks of the Germans has not passed. Tommy Atkins always is seen in new trenches with a respirator in a bag slung at his side.

CHURCH AT WHITEVILLE CONSECRATED YESTERDAY

Bishop Darst Conducts Services, Assisted by Archdeacon Noe.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., July 4.—An impressive service was held at the new Grace Episcopal church here this morning, when the Right Rev. Thomas C. Darst, Bishop of East Carolina, consecrated the church. The bishop was assisted by Archdeacon Thomas P. Noe, of Wilmington. The service, which was really a combination of the morning confirmation, communion, and Consecration services, was, in spite of the inclement weather, fairly well attended.

In opening his sermon, Bishop Darst paid an eloquent tribute to the work of the Rev. Thomas P. Noe, who had worked hard to organize the church in Whiteville. For his text the bishop took three sentences from the 14th and 16th verses of the fifth chapter of Matthew: "Ye are the light of the world." "A city that is set on the hill cannot be hidden," and "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your father, who is in heaven."

—Editor James H. Cowan, of The Evening Dispatch, returned Saturday night from Montreat, where he attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina Press Association. Editor Cowan has the honor of having been elected president of the association for the coming year and the association is to be congratulated upon having such as able newspaper man as its chief officer.

SAYS SIMMONS SHOULD GO TO SOUTH AMERICA

Col. S. A. Jones Wants Him Added to Commission

Writes on the Development of Trade Between Latin American and the United States—Mail Line From Washington

To the Editor of the Star:

A friend of mine sent me a clipping from the New York Times of the 27th of June, that the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. McAdoo, had on that date invited as a special committee to visit Central and South America, in company with business men and financiers, in the United States: "Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida; Mr. D. Y. Cooper, cotton manufacturer, Henderson, N. C.; G. A. Davidson, President of the Panama-California Exposition; S. M. Hastings, President of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association; Kaniel Keleher, Seattle; A. L. Mills, President First National Bank, Portland, Ore.; Charles C. Moore, President Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and Walter Parker, General Manager of the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce." Saying that I should be glad that at last our government was taking steps on the idea I have long been advocating, and commissioned by many States to work for, and we should take steps to secure South American commerce.

Of course, these gentlemen no doubt are invited to make this trip at the cost of the government. Of course, I am glad to see manifested a live interest in the work.

North Carolina and Florida will get more immediate benefit from their ports than any other States in the Union. North Carolina, especially, for with her natural gateway through the ports of Wilmington and Southport, located on the shortest possible line for the great Northwest, Middle West, and the center of American population, to reach the entire East Coast of South America, from which over 80 per cent. of South American Commerce originates, and will always originate.

I do not know Mr. Cooper, of Henderson, N. C., who has been selected for this important mission; do not know what thought and study he has given to North Carolina's interest, in South America. But I hope he is posted, or will be; for he has the opportunity to help to line up work that will make Wilmington and Southport the greatest gateway for American commerce, outside of New York, on the East Coast of the United States; and to help carry forward the work that will make North Carolina the greatest railroad highway by connecting lines all the way across the nation to Winnipeg, Canada; and making her the greatest commercial highway of any State south of the Ohio, and east of the Mississippi river.

Florida has, in her Tampa harbor, the already established natural gateway for the quickest and shortest possible route for Mail and Commerce, by way of the Panama Canal, to reach all of the West Coast of South America, and make Florida the second greatest highway for Railroad Commerce; and when the Florida Canal is built, make her the greatest inland waterway for Commerce for State upbuilding, and Commerce economy known to the world. The Secretary of the Treasury has made a wise selection in choosing Senator Fletcher to be on the committee to look after this trade.

If the Ship Purchase bill had been a bill to establish direct mail lines to the East and West Coasts of Soutth America, over the shortest routes by rail and water, they would have been by way of the North Carolina and Florida ports, and would have been a law today and been in operation.

I think, however, that the people throughout the nation, an despecially the South, and North Carolina, will agree that the Secretary of the Treasury should enlarge that committee, and add U. S. Senator Simmons to it, as Senator Fletcher and Senator Simmons are both members of the Senate's Committee on Commerce, the most important committee in Congress, except the Senate's committee on finance, of which Senator Simmons is chairman. And by his position as chairman of that committee, he occupies the most powerful position in Congress, except the Speaker of the House; and would be invaluable in the work sought to be accomplished, nationally speaking, and of immeasurable value to North Carolina, as Senator Fletcher will be to Florida in this work.

Every commercial organization and Board of Trade in North Carolina should adopt a resolution, asking the Secretary of the Treasury to add Senator Simmons to that committee. There was laid in his hands, May 7, 1914, by the writer, in his capacity as commissioner for this State, a bill indorsed by the Legislatures of States carrying over thirty millions of population; asking at the hands of Congress a South American mail line from Wilmington and Southport to the East Coast of South America.

I had prepared in the Government department a map for the use of the Senate's Committee on Commerce, showing North Carolina's geographical and superior position in relation to the commerce of the East Coast of South America, and made it so plain a child could understand why North Carolina should have her ports opened by direct mail lines. I have asked that plates of this map be made for the North Carolina daily papers, to publish if they so wish, so that the people may get a clear view and understanding of North Carolina's interest in South American Commerce, and why Senator Simmons, of all men in the United States, should, along with Senator Fletcher, be appointed on this committee to go with the financial and business men of the United States on this trip to the Central and South American Republics.

Respectfully,
S. A. JONES,
Commissioner for North Carolina, Tennessee and Florida, for more direct ocean mail lines to South America.

GERMAN FORCES MAY HAVE WARSAW IN LESS THAN WEEK

tween Aix Roulette and Souchez. They were dispersed and driven back by the fire from the French barricade and machine guns, with heavy losses.

In the Argonne Infantry fire and cannonading did not cease during the night. Along the road between Binarville and Vienne Le Chateau, as far as Le Four De Paris, there were only local infantry engagements.

"In the region of LaFontaine there has been no change. On the front at La Haeye, the Germans arter a violent bombardment endeavored to attack our trenches at about midnight.

"North of Regnieville the fire from our barricades prevented the forces of the enemy from spreading out.

"In front of Fay a battalion of the enemy which came as far as our wire entanglements was compelled to retire. A second attack at this place by half a battalion of German troops was no more successful.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front".

There have been quite spirited artillery actions in Beligum, in the region of Nieuport and on the Steenstraete-etas front, as well as north of Arras. On the right bank of the Aisne, in the neighborhood of Paissy, mining operations continue.

"In the Argonne engagements with hand grenades and torpedoes ocurred but no infantry action.

On the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges there has been merely cannonading.

Rome, July 4, via Paris.—A Corriered Italia dispatch from the Island of Corfu says that the Italian minister at Durazzo is reported to have left for Rome to confer with his government on the situation in Albania, Durazzo having been occupied by two Serbian regiments. Durazzo is an Albanian sea port on the Adriatc, 53 miles South of Scutari.
